DOORWAYS APPOINTS NEW CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

DOORWAYS is pleased to welcome Gary M. Mudd, CPA as its Chief Financial Officer (CFO). Mudd, a highly skilled not-for-profit executive, will direct DOORWAYS' overall financial planning and reporting, accounting policies and practices, and information technology. He will participate in the formulation and implementation of the organization's strategic plan and revenue development.

With 30 years of nonprofit experience, Mudd is well positioned to make an immediate impact at DOORWAYS. He is a certified public accountant with ten years of public accounting experience, and has worked with numerous nonprofit clients. As a Deloitte manager, he directed teams auditing leading St. Louis companies including Monsanto and Maritz, as well as numerous private independent schools. At Kerber, Eck & Braeckel, he conducted detailed examinations of ZMD Subdistricts' financial and operating controls. In his 11 years at Whitfield School, he initially served as the business manager. He then became the school's development director and led a capital campaign that raised in excess of $18 million to complete the campus. The St. Louis Business Journal recognized him for his professional achievements in 2003 as a "40 under 40" recipient. Mudd's experience includes roles at RISE, the St. Louis community development intermediary, and as a key member of a special projects team that launched a new corporate brand for H&R Block.

Mudd graduated with honors from the University of Missouri - St. Louis with a Masters of Business Administration and holds a University of Missouri - Columbia Bachelor of Science - Accountancy.

He currently serves as board treasurer for PROMO, Missouri's statewide LGBT advocacy organization, where he was instrumental in leading that organization's merger with Sage St. Louis in 2015. He previously served on the boards of St. Louis Effort for AIDS, Art St. Louis and Shaw Neighborhood Improvement Association, as well as advisory committees throughout the St. Louis metropolitan area.

"I have observed the remarkable growth and outstanding work of DOORWAYS almost from the organization's inception, and am thrilled to join such a talented team," said Mudd. "I am confident that guided by the visionary leadership of Opal Jones, President and CEO, more impressive work is on the horizon."
